Summer Reading Guide
2017
For Students Entering Kindergarten

The following list of children's authors should be used as a guide to help select reading material for the summer. Children should be read to each day for at least fifteen minutes. In conjunction with the reading families should discuss each story with their child to enhance the child's comprehension skills and vocabulary development. Your child should be able to retell or summarize the story in his/her own words.

Please select a minimum of three books and have your child draw a picture about the story. Your child should then dictate a sentence to correspond with their picture. Parents should write the dictated sentence on the picture paper.

The story pictures will be collected during the first week of school in September.
